ITALY BRINGS MORE CHARGES OF HOSTILE ACTS BY ETHIOPIANS

Protest Sent to Addis Ababa—Ethiopia Demands Immediate Convocation of League of Nations' Council—Italy Demands Complete Control of Border Regions—Appeal to Geneva

ROME, July 10 (AP).—Italy charged Ethiopia with two new hostile incidents in their bitter dispute tonight shortly after Benito Mussolini called into council 120 generals and other high officers of his army.

An official communiqué said Ethiopians were guilty of anti-Italian offences on July 6 at Harrar, Ethiopia. A protest has been sent to Addis Ababa.

Official spokesmen hastened to assure questioners the new incidents, although "demonstrative of the increasing intolerable Ethiopian influence," would not necessarily furnish the spark to set off a war.

A "USELESS ATTEMPT" Government spokesmen called Ethiopia's appeal to the League of Nations today for intervention another "useless attempt" to project League influence into the controversy.

The Harrar incidents involved the Italian consul at Harrar, who was "insulted and menaced," the communiqué said, and an attack upon an Eritrean soldier attached to the Italian consulate. The communiqué asserted he was clubbed and stoned by twenty Ethiopians.

While the consul was en route to the town of Dardere, continued the communiqué, his automobile was halted by a group of Ethiopian soldiers under the command of an officer.

"With injurious words and attitude," it said, the Ethiopian officer tried to halt the car.

"CLUBBED AND STONED" On the afternoon of the same day, Italy announced, the Eritrean soldier, while en route to the post-office from the consulate, was "sur-

NO MONETARY REFORM PLANK

Stevens Has No Intention of Entertaining Any Social Credit Schemes

OTTAWA, July 10 (AP).—Hon. H. H. Stevens today announced to press correspondents the manifesto of the new party whose leadership he has accepted will be issued in Toronto next Friday. It will be concise but clear in a statement of about 2,000 words, he said. The name of the new party will be announced at the same time. The former Minister of Trade said he would leave tomorrow night for Toronto.

Questioned about the social credit scheme of William Aberhart, of Alberta, Mr. Stevens replied he was "not going to adopt any of the various schemes for monetary reform." He added:

"I believe the subject is so complex it will require the most careful consideration before any action is taken on it. I have repeatedly said I believe there must be a correction of the present monetary concentration of credit in the hands of a few, and in the use of the nation's surplus wealth for the welfare of the people must be considered." He made it quite clear he was not adopting "any particular scheme."

FLOODS DROP IN NEW YORK STATE

Property Loss Estimated at $25,000,000—Three Thousand Persons Still Homeless

ALBANY, N.Y., July 10 (AP).—Rehabilitation of flood-ravaged Upstate New York moved forward steadily tonight under state and Federal Government supervision as swollen creeks and rivers receded under clear skies leaving forty dead and property damage estimated at more than $25,000,000.

More than 3,000 still are temporarily homeless, twenty-four hours after the last rain of consequence had fallen in the flood zone.

Wreckage—littered streets and highways were being cleared, returning refugees worked unceasingly to make mud-filled and twisted homes habitable.

MILLINERY MIGHT HAVE BEEN TEMPTING

CALGARY, July 10 (AP).—Old-timers were wondering today what would have happened to a local storekeeper if the range riders of the pioneer days, who carried six-shooters, were here for the Stampede. The storekeeper has a sign in his display window: "Millinery for Cowboys." Along with the sign was a display of sombreroes of various gallantries.

Thousands Engulfed In Disaster Through Overwhelming Flood

Japanese Navy Is Preparing Larger Budget Than Ever

TOKYO, July 11 (AP).—The Japanese navy is preparing to demand in the next budget an appropriation of 712,000,000 yen—about $178,480,000, which is 35 per cent above the current year's $30,000,000 yen, the largest in the nation's history. This figure was set by the navy's budget committee today on the assumption that when the next fiscal year begins on April 1, 1936, it will extend into a new era in which world sea powers will have abandoned limitation of navies, with consequent prospects of a naval race.

Volcano in Pacific Is Erupting

BATAVIA, Dutch East Indies, July 10 (AP).—Tons of burning lava were shooting high into the air tonight as Mount Krakatau, mysterious volcanic island in the Southern Pacific, continued on one of its spectacular eruptions.

As the flaming liquid shot upward in thick streams, spreading over a wide area, natives in the neighboring islands beat a warning of tom-toms.

Enakrakatau, a small nearby volcanic island, was reported to have disappeared immediately after the first explosion of the eruption.

CONVICTED OF OLD CRIME

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn., July 10 (AP).—James Derrick, tall, grey-haired native of East Tennessee mountains, today was convicted of the slaying, thirty-two years ago, of Rhoden Denton, a neighbor. The jury set the penalty at ten years' imprisonment.

HEAT DEADLY IN MIDDLE AMERICA

Merle Sun Takes Mounting Toll Of Victims as Temperatures Soar

KANSAS CITY, July 10 (AP).—Middle America counted its heat dead for the year at thirty-one today as the sun beat down mercilessly with no relief in prospect.

The toll by states, compiled unofficially by the Associated Press, showed:

—Oklahoma, eight; Texas, seven; Minnesota, five; Nebraska, four; Kansas, three; Missouri, two; and Illinois and Iowa one each.

Thousands swarmed to parks and benches tonight—seeking relief on benches, blankets and cots. Swimming pools were jammed.

Three Hundred Men Slip Out of Montreal as Officers Break Up Demonstration—Party of Seventeen Leaves Winnipeg to Test Ban Against Going to Capital

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP).—With weather forecasts favorable, Laura Ingalls was set early today for her several-times-delayed trans-continental flight in an attempt to set a new record.

She gave mechanics "at eight o'clock" their orders to load her Lockheed-Orion plane with 600 gallons of gasoline, and said she would take off as soon as possible for Burbank, Calif.

SURTAX NOT CONFIRMED

Canada Has No Word of Japan's Decision to Impose Heavy Levy

OTTAWA, July 10 (AP).—Neither the Department of External Affairs nor the Japanese Legation in Ottawa had received any confirmation when the offices closed for the day of reports from Tokyo that a 50 per cent surtax would be imposed by Japan on certain imports from Canada.

The surtax would apply to lumber and wheat, as well as certain other commodities, and would come into effect on July 13 for one year.

For some weeks negotiations have been proceeding between this Dominion and Japan. Officials here believed they were still in progress.

The situation is a difficult one from a Canadian standpoint, officials state. Japan has low production costs and vigorous trade policies. In addition, and more important than either of the foregoing, is the depreciated state of the yen.

YEN IS DEPRECIATED

On a parity basis, the yen should cost about forty-nine cents in Canadian currency, but actually costs only around twenty-nine cents. Such a pull in the exchange, Canadian manufacturers of rubber goods, particularly rubber footwear, manufacturers of silk goods and electrical appliances have found the Japanese competition disturbing.

Department of National Revenue has followed its usual custom of levying duties on goods from Japan on a forty-nine-cent valuation of the yen. The imported, instead of paying duty on what cost, for example, $100, would pay duty on $149.

Stabilization Of Currency Is Mentioned

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP).—Two brief but significant statements echoed across the Atlantic today to focus international attention on currency stabilization possibilities.

Attorney-General Cummings, advocating outlawry of gold clause suits, said "an international agreement to establish a gold standard would be almost impossible" without such legislation.

Only shortly before, in Paris, a prediction that America, France and England will unite soon for "stabilization" was made by Jean Tannery, governor of the Bank of France.

Mayor and Alderman Offer Different Versions on Increased Police Costs

VANCOUVER, July 10 (AP).—Additional and special police employed this year has cost Vancouver $50,000, Mayor G. G. McGeer told the City Council today.

The funds have been obtained from unexpended by-law balances. "A policeman has been killed in Regina, and constant agitation is going on in Vancouver, which may lead to a clash at any time," said Mayor McGeer. "Under these circumstances I feel that we are justified in taking every precaution."

Scores of Strikers Are Ejected From Rockcliffe Relief Camp

MONTREAL, July 10 (AP).—Under cover of a demonstration by 2,000 of their sympathizers at Place Viger Square late today, a group of 300 "hunger-marchers" left the city and were on their way to Ottawa, it was learned tonight. City, Provincial and Federal police, determined not to let the men leave Montreal, were unaware they had been side-stepped until a late hour tonight.

Long Service With Board Ended

W. H. Binns, director of technical education and supervisor of night school classes for the Victoria School Board, has retired from service after thirty-five years' association with the board, it was announced at last night's meeting of the trustees.

Mr. Binns was brought to this city in 1900 by the Macdonald Foundation Fund for the purpose of introducing technical education into the public schools. At that time the work was known as manual training, but since the scope has been widened, the instruction now comes under the heading of technical education.

EXTENDS SCOPE

During his tenure of office, Mr. Binns built up the manual training classes throughout the city to a remarkable degree of efficiency, and in 1912, when appointed supervisor of the night school, was able to extend the scope of his work by making technical subjects available to those in employment.

CITY DIRECTOR LEAVES STAFF

W. H. Binns, of Technical School, Retires—Capt. G. M. Breadner Successor

W. H. Binns, director of technical education and supervisor of night school classes for the Victoria School Board, has retired from service after thirty-five years' association with the board, it was announced at last night's meeting of the trustees.

WELL ON THE WAY

By midnight they were well off Montreal Island, past Ste. Anne de Bellevue, it was learned. They had agreed on a rendezvous for Friday or Saturday where they will again converge into a group and they hope to descend on Ottawa by July 20 or 21 to coincide with the arrival of other marchers from the West.

The 300 expected to be reinforced by other groups leaving here quietly during the coming week.

Montreal police charged the crowd at Place Viger Square here, wielded batons and fists freely, and broke up the meeting after arresting the speaker. A short time later two

Solidified Gasoline Works Without Fail In Series of Tests

Non-Explosive, Cheese-Like Product Claimed to Eliminate Dangers of Ordinary Motor Fuel — Costs Little for the Manufacture

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP).—Gasoline solidified to look like a piece of cheese was used successfully to run an ordinary gasoline engine in tests announced today at the Guttenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University.

The tests bring close to practicality an eight-year search for a gasoline, something, non-explosive, which will do the same work as liquid gasoline.

MORE EFFICIENT

In the simple test engine the hard gasoline was more efficient than ordinary gasoline, under exactly the same running conditions. This was announced only as a good sign, and not as a prediction.

The new stuff will not explode. A piece of it the size of a butter pat was stuck on the end of a knife. A lighted match was held close, its flame almost touching. Nothing happened.

The tests were made under direction of Dr. Alexander Klemin, director of the school. They were conducted by A. N. Troshkin. The hard gasoline was invented by Adolph Pruskin, New York.

LATEST OF SERIES

The cheese-like stuff that worked so well is the latest in a series of more than 9,000 batches of hydrocarbons which Pruskin has hardened in the search for an efficient hard gasoline.

The test engine is four-cycle, com-

FUNCTIONED WELL

"The new system functioned very well," the report signed by Dr. Klemin and Troshkin stated, "and permitted continuous operation for periods varying from ten to fifty minutes with varying loads."

The inventor says it costs a quarter of a gallon to change ordinary gasoline into solid form. He says any kind of gasoline can be so altered. If there is lead in a gasoline, it precipitates out.

The new cheese-like stuff does not melt as fast, but changes directly into fumes. The hard stuff can be stored in open air with an evaporation loss figured by the inventor at 3-4 of 1 per cent a month.

THOUSANDS LOST IN CHINESE FLOODS

ruining waters crushed homes. Mission hospitals at Changsha were doing relief work and preparing to deal with possible epidemics.

STEAMER CAPSIZED

Wuhu reported an unidentified oil steamer, caught in whirling currents, overturned with unknown casualties. A new and serious breach of the Yangtze occurred, opposite Tating, fifty miles above Wuhu.

Many thousands of Southern Anhwei peasants — who, short months ago, were suffering the ravages of drought and consequent famine, and since had been seeking their existence on the southern shores of the Yangtze near Wuhu — watched the roaring river flood their huts and engulf their small farm plots.

What the toll of dead would be when flood, fire and famine, sure to follow, completed their work of devastation, none dared predict. Shattered communications systems rendered impossible an accurate check of those already dead.

RAVAGES WIDESPREAD

Disaster advices from Northern China brought five more provinces into the stricken or threatened area. Hopeh, Honan, Shantung, Shensi and Shansi. Ravaged by the Yangtze were Chekiang, Kiangsu, Anhwei, Kiangsi, Hupoh, Hunan, Szechwan and Kweichow, while Yunnan and other districts also were affected.

The Yangtze tonight was rising over most of its 3,000-mile length, although scattered localities reported slight falls.

Changsha, to the south, reported waters rising, and most places between Hankow and the sea said levels continued up.

One of the most serious developments of recent hours, reported from the capital at Nanking, was the cracking of the great Mahai dike bordering Kiangsi, Anhwei and Hupoh Provinces.

What happened to Shansi, Kiangsi and Shenchow, apparently caught in unprecedented disaster, remained veiled behind broken communications.

Seattle Man Is Given Long Term

SEATTLE, July 10 (AP).—George Moore, night club operator, who has been at liberty on $25,000 bond since November, 1933, on his conviction of shooting Frankie Ray, a boxer, was denied a petition for a rehearing on his appeal by the State Supreme Court today, Attorney John J. Sullivan said tonight.

He was given a fifteen-to-thirty-five-year sentence on a second-degree murder conviction. His appeal was denied by the Supreme Court last May 24.

MAKING BONDS STRICTLY LEGAL

New Ordinance Will Cover Objections and Avoid Delay on Works

VANCOUVER, July 10 (AP).—To avoid any delay to construction of a city hall and inauguration of a public works programme, a by-law was submitted to the City Council this afternoon covering issue of Vancouver's Baby Bonds and meeting the objections on which Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald recently granted an injunction halting issue of the bonds.

Decision to repeal the original by-law and pass a new ordinance was made at a meeting of the city's budget committee.

TO AVOID DELAY

This step was decided on instead of ordering an appeal against Mr. Justice McDonald's judgment, as an appeal might go as far as the Privy Council and delay the city hall and general works projects indefinitely.

The recent injunction was granted on the ground that the city had not provided for repayment of the bonds by equal annual installments. It was not enough, the court held, to make the principal installments equal, but the city should have gone farther and amortized principal and interest, so that the two would be paid off in equal amounts over the ten-year period of the indebtedness.

FORM LEAGUE OF VIGILANCE

Regina Organization Aims to Exercise Restraining Influence on Radicalism

REGINA, July 10 (AP).—Official announcement of the formation of the "League of Vigilance Executive," with a large membership, was made today. The league came into existence just prior to the departure of the relief camp workers, and has for its object "to exercise a restraining influence" at all public meetings by attendance.

The vigilantes first were reported as active a few days before the strikers left the city as planning a move to eject the men from the city when they showed no inclination to accept suggestions of either Dominion or Provincial Governments.

"Action will be taken to protect law-abiding citizens from the influence of those who preach doctrines intended to demoralize and who incite those easily influenced by their seditious utterances to break the law, thereby abusing their rights of citizenship to the detriment of the community," and to "combat all shady practices engaged in by irresponsible persons," are feature statements in the constitution.

TOSSED BY A BULL

CALGARY, July 10 (AP).—First casualty of the Calgary stampede, Rowland Ness, of De Winton, Alta., was in hospital today, victim of an enraged bull. A well-known exhibitor, Ness was tossed over a stall by one of his prize Ayrshires. He suffered serious injury and was unconscious when medical aid arrived.

WELLAND, Ont., July 10 (AP).—The heat wave is blamed for the extraordinary actions of young men here. When Provincial Constable J. The young man was taken in charge by his parents after he was brought to Welland police station.

British Ministry Issues Circular Regarding Protection Against Air Attacks

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—A comprehensive programme for protecting Britain's population against air raids went out today to all local authorities in England, Scotland and Wales, accompanied by assurances that "the need for these measures in no way implies risk of war."

The Government's circular, which made plain that local authorities would be responsible in the final analysis for protection of the public, also pledged the Government to continue striving for peace.

NO RELAXATION

Issuance of the instructions, it said, did not imply any relaxation of effort on the part of His Majesty's Government to ensure the promotion and maintenance of peace by all means in their power, and to use to the full the machinery of the League of Nations and other instruments for guaranteeing peace.

The Government already has made arrangements for an initial supply of respirators to be allotted partly for training in their use against gas and partly to build up reserves.

It was announced the work would be begun along these lines:

ACCUMULATING RESERVES

1. Accumulation of reserve stocks of respirators and protective clothing for the use of those engaged in precautionary measures.
2. Building up of reserves of "bleach powder" for decontamination work.
3. Probable establishment of an anti-gas school for civilians.
4. Use of the Red Cross and the Order of St. John Ambulance Corps to assist in the enrollment and training of an anti-gas medical emergency corps.

Air-raid warnings, lighting restrictions, rescue and salvage work were left entirely up to local authorities.

IMMUNITY IMPOSSIBLE

The circular, asserting that rapid development in air weapons made it "impossible to guarantee immunity from attack," declared:

"His Majesty's Government strongly repudiate the idea of attacks on civil population by means of indiscriminate bombing. It will continue to make every effort to promote an international agreement to obviate this peril."

"Provision must nevertheless be made to minimize the consequences of such attacks if they should be delivered."

It was disclosed that the Government had rejected the construction of public bomb-proof structures as "impracticable and costly."

SPECIAL OFFER NOT ACCEPTED

Dominions Secretary Discloses Negotiations Made With Irish Free State

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—Mr. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions secretary, disclosed today that a debate on Anglo-Irish relations in the House of Commons that he had made a special offer to settle the land annuities dispute three years ago.

In private negotiations in 1932 at Ottawa, he said, he announced British willingness to stand out of the tribunal proposed to settle the question if the Irish Free State would do likewise, provided the tribunal was chosen from Empire countries.

(The Free State would not agree that the tribunal should be chosen only from Empire countries and it was never set up. When Eamon de Valera became president in 1932 he ordered payment of the land annuities to Britain suspended.)

TO DO UTMOST

He added that Britain intended to do her utmost to prevent the Free State leaving the British Commonwealth. He was anxious to be friends with the Free State. The annuity difficulty was easy to get over, but the oath of allegiance was the crux, particularly when De Valera spoke of "a foreign king."

"Members of the Dail Eireann no longer have to take the oath of allegiance to the King before being allowed to take their seats."

ANCIENT LAW TO BE TESTED

Status of Treaty of 1794 Involving Indian Rights Is Contested

MALONE, N.Y., July 10 (AP).—A point of law testing the status of an international treaty of 1794 between the United States and Great Britain, is involved in a case argued today in a Federal Court before Judge Walter H. Evans, in which a Canadian Indian woman, wife of a St. Regis chief, protests against the payment of import duty on two dozen split woven baskets.

The woman, Mrs. Peter Gorow, through her attorney, George J. Moore, cited the treaty, which included in Section 3 of its provisions, "nor shall Indians, passing or repassing with their own proper goods and effects of whatever nature they may be, pay for same any import duty whatever."

Judge Evans said that the case was a test one, which would have a definite bearing on similar questions arising in the future. He reserved decision pending the filing of briefs by the attorneys.

Police Capture Gang of Bandits

NEWARK, N.J., July 10 (AP).—Battling with guns and nightsticks near the Hudson-Tube Station, twenty policemen captured an alleged holdup gang of five men and a woman today.

One of the men was wounded. Two truck loads of radio tubes and motors, valued at $75,000, which had been stolen, police said, were recovered at the scene.

LIQUOR AGENTS ARE CONDEMNED

Ross Report Finds No Evidence of "Toll Gate" on Listing of Brands

TORONTO, July 10 (AP).—Recommendation of the Ontario Liquor Control Board deal directly with foreign distillers and vendors of wine rather than through agencies, was contained in the report released here tonight of the inquiry by Judge Duncan C. Ross of St. Thomas into former liquor administration in Ontario.

Believing the board had power to prohibit these agencies from acting in connection with business of foreign vendors with the board, Judge Ross said:

NO BENEFIT TO PEOPLE

"Such agencies have been of no benefit to the people, in fact they have been a great expense to them. Their methods have, moreover, in some cases, proven to be most undesirable and undesirable."

The inquiry, started last November 2 and concluded early this year, followed charges made during the last provincial election of a "toll gate" in connection with listing of brands with the liquor board.

NO EVIDENCE OF "TOLLS"

"There is no evidence that any of these agents paid any cash to any member of the board or to any officer thereof for the listing of liquor and such suggestion was not heard from any quarter," said Judge Ross.

"But," he added, "agents can pay a toll not in cash to get liquor listed" and he found "conclusive evidence" that George Grover, of Toronto, and P. H. Wright, of Ottawa, "had paid a toll in political fidelity and work, and the listing of their liquor was their reward."

MOSCOW TO BE RECONSTRUCTED

Stalin Plans to Make City Accommodate Five Million Inhabitants

MOSCOW, July 10 (AP).—A ten-year plan for the reconstruction of Moscow, converting it into an ultra-modern capital for 5,000,000 inhabitants, was announced tonight by Joseph Stalin, dictator of Soviet Russia.

The new city will cover more than double the area of the present one, which has a population of 3,500,000. It will be surrounded by a six-kilometer zone of forests and parks to assure the populace clean air and furnish places for outings.

"The size of the famous Red Square will be doubled, broad new avenues laid out, huge new hotels erected and 135,000,000 square feet of new housing space provided, if the goal of the plan is achieved."

CAPITAL OVERCROWDED

A shortage of living space at present is the most serious problem in the overcrowded capital. Emergency regulations limit the space allowed per person to twelve square yards.

If the same tactics adopted in the Soviet's two five-year industrial plans are adopted, the Government's full resources of labor and equipment will be thrown into the task, which promises to be one of the most gigantic yet undertaken by the Bolsheviks.

Work on the ten-year-plan is to start at the beginning of 1936. Provisions of the programme include:

EXPANSION OF LIMITS

Expansion of the area of the city from the present 71,250 acres to one of 150,000 acres.

Linking up of a zone of forests and parks encircling the city to the centre of the town by broad radial avenues.

Building of six new boulevards, each at least 150 feet wide, traversing the city from the outskirts and paving of other streets and squares, ridding the city entirely of its present cobblestone paving.

The raising of antiquated buildings in the centre of town, replacing them with costly and massive public edifices.

Erection of six hotels of 4,000 rooms each and the building of fifty new movie houses, 500 schools, seventeen hospitals and nine department stores.

VANCOUVER, July 10 (AP).—Conservative nominations in three Vancouver Federal constituencies will be held during the first week of August. It was announced here tonight.

WARSAW, July 10 (AP).—The Polish Senate and Diet, the Upper and Lower Houses of Parliament, were dissolved today by President Ignacy Moscicki. New elections will be announced by the President within the next thirty days.

HALF STRIKERS ALREADY BACK

Nearly 400 Apply at Vancouver for Reinstatement — Province Giving Relief

VANCOUVER, July 10 (AP).—Return of 850 striking British Columbia relief campers to camps, they left three months ago tonight, neared the halfway mark as 244 men were provided with transportation today, bringing to 395 the number of men who have applied for reinstatement.

Practically all of those who received transportation today were men who had applied for reinstatement before leaving on an on-to-Ottawa trek, which was subsequently halted at Regina.

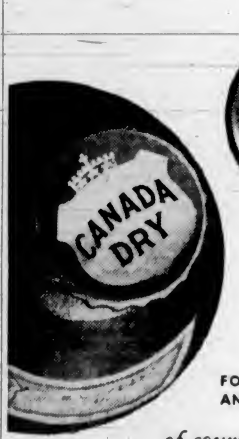

NEW REGISTRATIONS

Several new registrations were received. J. H. McVety, Dominion Employment Officer for British Columbia, said, including that of a Saskatchewan resident, who made a statutory declaration that he had come to the Coast on transportation supplied by the Saskatchewan Government. The man, whose name McVety refused to reveal, said he had had steady employment for the past three years until June last, and when his employment gave out he had applied for transportation here and had received it.

All men who register or apply for reinstatement are being furnished relief by the Provincial Government until they return to camp.

Announces Three Developments in Realm of Science

Tesla Has New Method Transmitting Mechanical Energy, Passes Induction Current One Way Through Circuit and New Finding on Propositions of Relativity

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP).—Nikola Tesla, Yugoslavian scientist, celebrating his seventy-ninth birthday, today claimed there is three amazing developments in the sciences:

A new method and apparatus for transmitting mechanical energy any terrestrial distance.

Passage of an induction current with a varying flux one way only through a circuit without use of a commutator.

Proof after observation of cosmic rays that many of the propositions of relativity are false.

He elaborated these claims in an all-afternoon interview, but did not offer proof of his assertions by exhibiting calculations or mechanical devices.

He would not confide at what laboratories he had pursued the work which, he said, had convinced him during the last year that ideas he has long entertained along these lines are correct.

MANY VALUABLE USES
He said his new means of energy transmission would be valuable in navigation, geology and physics. A ship, he asserted, by means of a communication system he would develop from his discovery within a year, could be kept to a true course without misdirection in any weather.

Geologists would be able to explore mineral deposits from the earth's surface with more accurate results than they can attain with instruments now available. Physicists, too, he said, would be able to determine much about the interior of the earth.

The use of direct current without a commutator, he said, would revolutionize motors for automobiles if practical engineers could carry out his findings.

He asserted relativity, in the light of his observations of cosmic rays, became what he long has considered it—"a beggar dressed in purple which the ignorant mistake for a king."

TRANSMITTING ENERGY
Dr. Tesla said he was pleased by his mechanism for transmitting energy more than by any of the other advances he claimed to have made.

Of its effects, he said:
"It thus becomes possible to convey mechanical effects to the greatest terrestrial distances and to produce all kinds of unique effects which are of inestimable value to science, industry and the arts."

He added his invention could be used to destructive ends in war. A bomb might be exploded in mid-ocean by a machine no better developed than those he already has constructed, but qualified this by saying it would have to be a bomb he had constructed.

The soapbox orator was concluding his address.
"The fierce light of public opinion," he cried, "shall duly do their very footsteps until they swallow the bitter pill and drink its deadly dregs!"

Several persons were reported killed in line with his theory of the use of energy more than by any of the other advances he claimed to have made.

Of its effects, he said:

Anti-Aircraft Section in Action

The above photograph was taken yesterday at Fort Macaulay where the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade (Canadian Artillery), is undergoing annual training and gun practice. The photograph shows the anti-aircraft section with gun mounted and range finding instruments in the background. A small red balloon released from the fort served as a target for the gun and the range finders. This section forms part of the defence forces of the Canadian Militia and is a unit of the 5th Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel M. Aubrey Kent. This section is in charge of Captain G. Paulin.

WALKOUT IS NEARER END

Trouble Still Flaring Up at Times as Washington Mills Reopen

SEATTLE, July 10 (AP).—Although a mass demonstration against the use of National Guardsmen occurred in Aberdeen and state patrolmen laid down a tear-gas barrage to disperse pickets in Longview, the twelve Northwest lumber strike appeared nearer an end today.

Six mills were operating in Seattle with others slated to resume shortly. In Everett, Father George Thompson, of Portland, member of the mediation board appointed by the Secretary of Labor, and E. P. Marsh and Charles W. Hope, Federal Labor mediators, were attempting to bring about an early settlement. The Everett City Council had urged strikers and employers to get together.

PATROLMAN CHARGED
John Gilbert, Longview millworker, obtained a warrant for the arrest of one state patrolman, charging third-degree assault, after he was gassed and assertedly shot at in the vicinity of Long-Bell plant. A group of twenty-five strikers, and ten were employees, were caught in a smoke barrage laid down by state patrolmen near the Weyerhaeuser mill when they dislodged pickets from private property. The employees, working nearby, were unable to escape the fumes.

DISPERSE PICKETS
Patrolmen later dispersed four pickets with a long-range gas bomb near the Long-Bell plant. While seven Grays Harbor mills were operating today following resumption of work at the Poison Lumber & Shingle Company plant in Hoquiam, approximately 3,127 strikers and sympathizers marched through the streets of Aberdeen.

FAIRBANKS FOR ENGLAND AGAIN
Due in New York by Air Today—Will Sail on Empress
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 10 (AP).—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., again took the air lanes today for a reunion with his reputed fiancée, Lady Sylvia Ashley, and another trip to England.
The actor left the Grand Central air terminal by plane for New York at 3:30 p.m. (P.S.T.). With him were Dave Rose, a friend, and Mrs. Rose; Clarence Erickson, his business manager, and Mrs. Erickson; Hunter Marsten, another friend, and a valet.
Fairbanks and his party will arrive in New York tomorrow, the actor conferring with his attorney, Dennis O'Brien, there. He will then charter a plane for Quebec and there rejoin Lady Sylvia. She left Vancouver for Quebec last Sunday night.
At Quebec, Fairbanks and Lady Sylvia will embark for England on the liner Empress of Britain.
The actor said he will be away from Hollywood until about January 1 and will visit Japan before returning here.
Fairbanks' contribution to next season's United Artists' programme will be one picture. This, he said, probably will be a refilming of "The Honor."

Little Betty was going to have her first party. The occasion was her sixth birthday.
"Now, Betty, dear," said her mother, "I want you to ask anyone you like."
Betty looked thoughtful. "Then I'll ask Uncle Dick, Uncle Fred, grandpa, Auntie Freda, and—Her mother smiled.
"Wait a minute, Betty," she said. "They are all elderly people."
"I know," said the child, "but they have the most money."
Judge: "The jury finds you guilty."
Prisoner: "That's all right, Judge. I know you're too intelligent to be influenced by what they say."
Judge: "You can take your choice, $10 or ten days."
Prisoner (still in a foggy condition): "I'll take the money, y'r honor."

FORMAL DEMANDS
1. A political guarantee equivalent to the Italian guarantee of Italy to those already existing, within which Italy would have exclusive rights of exploitation and may direct suppression of slavery.
2. Establishment within Ethiopia of a zone of Italian political and economic influence, in addition to those already existing, within which Italy would have exclusive rights of exploitation and may direct suppression of slavery.
3. Formal recognition by Ethiopia of this zone, to correspond approximately with that recognized by the Three-Power Treaty of 1908 as the Italian sphere of influence.
Great Britain so far has shown little liking for the proposals, Italian circles here said. Italy will present them directly to Addis Ababa. It was reported, if the consent of France and Great Britain, the other signatories of the 1908 treaty, can be obtained.
Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, was busy preparing the statement of the Ethiopian situation which he has promised the Commons tomorrow.

NEED IS URGENT
GENEVA, July 10 (AP).—Ethiopia today officially informed the League of Nations its urgent action was necessary to forestall hostilities in Africa.
Prof. Gaston Jorre, Ethiopian agent in Paris, personally delivered to Geneva copies of the record of proceedings of the Italo-Ethiopian Conciliation Commission whose meeting at Scheveningen, The Netherlands, broke up yesterday after Italy's delegates refused to continue discussion of territorial issues.
A covering letter to the League said the failure of arbitration meant that early intervention of the League was essential.

CAUTIOUS ADVICE
WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP).—A "go slow" procedure on neutrality legislation was ordered by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today after a warning by Secretary Cordell Hull.
The State Department chief, in an executive session talk with the committee, cautioned that several proposals of the Senate Munitions Committee to reduce opportunities for America's embroilment in foreign conflict, as presently worded, might place this country at a disadvantage with other neutrals.

Two Killed When Train Hits Car
HOQUIAM, Wash., July 10 (AP).—Dragged a distance of two city blocks when their automobile was hit by a Seattle-bound Northern Pacific gasoline train, Walter Leverne and John H. Zimmer, both forty-five and of Aberdeen, were killed today two miles west of Montesano.
The two, painters on the new Wynoch Bridge, had finished their day's work and started for home by way of the little-used country road. The crossing, near a bend in the track, does not give a clear view of approaching trains.

FAR EASTERN PREDICTIONS

Sir Frederick Whyte is one of Great Britain's chief authorities on Far Eastern affairs. His comments, therefore, on the activities of Japan in Northern China must command attention. There are economic as well as political and military reasons for what is happening. Sir Frederick says that the latest penetration into China is a prolongation of Japan's uninterrupted occupation since the seizure of Mukden in 1931. The acquisition of Caha will give Tokyo control near the big coalfields of Shansi, as well as of the railway from Taitung to Peking. Already Japan has considerable influence in the management of this railway.

Japan is obviously aiming at a settlement of the problem of Mongolia, based, according to Sir Frederick Whyte, on a revival of the historic relation of Manchu and Mongol. The object, therefore, would seem to be to recreate the former Manchu-Mongol alliance, which would strengthen the position of Manchukuo and perhaps advance the day when the Emperor of that state would return to reign at Peking. In the meantime, in the opinion of Sir Frederick, there is no fear of foreign action to deal with the crisis in Northern China. All that can be done is a long range policy to meet the fundamental causes of the whole Far Eastern problem.

Japan, according to Sir Frederick, designs to weaken the power of Russia on the Pacific Coast. There is a rapid extension of Japanese strategic railways in North Manchukuo, and these offer a threat to the trans-Siberian line of communication to the Pacific. The other gate, he says, is in Mongolia. In that province communications are rudimentary, but there is a likelihood that Mongolia in the future will become important for trade, and military movements as well. Japan will doubtless be in a position to close it against any Russian advance in the future. Russia unquestionably regards the Japanese policy with trepidation, but the Soviet Union is not adequately organized for war, despite its huge army. Moreover, the Moscow Government is for the time being too much preoccupied with fears of Germany under Hitlerism to engage in any military adventure in the Far East. Sir Frederick says, therefore, that Hitler and the unfinished Russian Five-Year Plan between them "dictate to Russia a policy of passive watchfulness in the Far East. These are real reasons why war in the Far East has not broken out during the period of Russo-Japanese tension since 1931. And if one surprise may be felt that Japan did not seize the moment of Russian weakness to settle the unfinished account of 1905, the explanation is that the Japanese staff refrained from forcing the issue because the Japanese army had to undergo reform and re-equipment before it dared embark on war." The present happening, Sir Frederick believes, confronts the Nanking Government with a crisis more pregnant with foreboding than the loss of Manchuria in 1931.

RECIPROCITY

There are supposed to be negotiations in progress, if only in a perfunctory way, looking towards the framing of a reciprocity pact between this country and the United States. Up to date the basis of these negotiations has not been made public. There has been a good deal of speculation as to what Canada wants, but not so much as to the American claims. It is the latter and their effect on this country's trade that will in every possibility determine the people's attitude towards any reciprocity pact. It would seem, if The New York Herald-Tribune's correspondent at Washington is well informed, that the United States is seeking drastic concessions. What these have been set forth in that newspaper as follows:

1. That there be removal of Canadian tariff discrimination against importation of goods into the Dominion via New York and other United States ports.
2. That all goods imported from the United States be assessed at Canada's "intermediate" tariff rates.
3. That Canada lower duties on United States hardwood lumber.
4. That there be reduction of Canadian duties on American magazines and printed advertising material.
5. That no artificial valuations be placed upon United States imports because of currency depreciation.

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING

Sir John Pybus, president of the British Advertising Association, speaking at the recent convention of that body, drew attention to the importance of advertising as an aid to economic recovery. "A modern development," he said, "was co-operative advertising campaigns, and these showed clearly the relation between advertising and national recovery. There was the case of the Postoffice receipts going up by $3,000,000 in 1934 as compared with 1932, and in this increase advertising had played a large part. Through advertising the electrical industry in Great Britain is making rapid advances. The number of units of electricity generated in the country was up by 20 per cent in 1934 as compared with 1932, and the gas industry had made amazing progress in the same time. Sir John said:

"It has been established that advertising secures its results, not merely by redistribution of demand among different producers, but by raising the whole scale of demand and by selling two articles where one was sold before. When wisely done, advertising benefits everybody and injures none. It is now being employed not only to extend the sales of our younger and more go-ahead industries, but of some of the great staple products. Today there are campaigns running in the press and on the hoardings for bread, milk, beer, tea and other basic essentials of life. The success of these campaigns is likely to lead to a great extension of co-operative advertising. Most of such campaigns are made possible—paradoxical as it may sound—by the depression. In bad times business men are ready to band together to meet adversity. Unfortunately it sometimes happens that, as things improve, individualistic tendencies become stronger again and the co-operative effort dies away. Advertising is necessary in good times as well as bad. Much as advertising has achieved, there is still immense scope for the individual advertiser. We are moving into a period of greater prosperity, when the public will have more money to spend and more leisure and better opportunities to develop a high standard of living. Those industries and those individual producers who have adapted themselves to the new technique of salesmanship are not only establishing their own success on a firm basis, but are helping along the road to general recovery."

THE GOLDEN VOICE

A telephone operator of the Victoria Exchange, London, has won the British Postoffice competition to discover the golden voice, that is, the voice regarded as most suitable for informing telephone subscribers of the time by means of "talking clocks." Miss E. W. Cain was chosen from nine girl operators selected from over 15,000 in exchanges throughout the country. The judges were Mr. John Masfield, the Post Laureate; Dame Sybil Thorndike, Lord Iliffe, Mr. S. Hilbert (chief announcer of the B.B.C.) and Mrs. E. D. Atkinson.

The final trial was a severe one. The voice had to be "beautiful in quality." It had to have a fullness of tone, with nothing naggy about it and nothing rasping in the breathing of in the note. The speech had to be impersonal, as detached as the song of a bird, without trace of over-emphasis or personal advertisement. It had to be without any trace whatever of the theatrical. It had to be clear and free from accent, urban or provincial. The candidates had to read thirty lines of a passage from Milton's "L'Allegro" and an extract from R. L. Stevenson's "Treasure Island." There were also tests in sentences telling the time. In giving the award, Mr. Masfield said that Miss Cain had a golden voice, one that was beautiful.

ABANDONED WOOD ROAD

A road is never commonplace. That turns and twists and rambles. By plumes hung with shining lace. By beads and secret brambles.

A road where arching hemlocks meet. Where laurel trees and pinches—Whose dust is marked by tiny feet Of little green chaffinches.

Here partridge strut the minut, And feeding quail assemble. And once—O heart, do not forget A startled fawn attempt!

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

But great men are not to be fashioned after our will, but according to the order of the world, and the world is not to be fashioned after our will. —Bismarck.

When I heard this, I smiled, and said to myself, "What a splendid man is Bismarck!"

Snookie O'Brien and Shinnly Shea were like David and Jonathan, what the sentimental writers used to describe as bosom friends. No one thought very much of Snookie except Shinnly. There was nothing very inspiring about Snookie. He was not personally impressive, and mentally there was no indication that he was destined to become a distinguished figure in his trade or in politics. Yet in the eyes of the simple Shinnly he was a hero. Snookie used to say that he was born to be a leader of men, and although when he said that he was inspired by something more potent in spirit than water, Shinnly believed that what his chum said would become true some day.

We have lost trace of both Snookie and Shinnly, but if they are gone from the haunts of men, they have left plenty of descendants. If Snookie was mad and Shinnly was silly, is not a greater part of the world mad today and the rest of it silly? We count that day almost lost when we do not read in the papers about men who are either ruling their parts of the world or about men who are proclaiming that they were born to rule our part of the world.

There seem to us to be more born rulers of men in Canada than any old lady could shake a stick at. We have produced them in British Columbia. They have produced them in some of the provinces, and now Ottawa is trying its "prentice hand" at their production. Very soon we shall have as many of them as there are political parties, and before the hurly-burly of the existing political situation is over, we shall have political parties a-plenty. For each new leader, immediately he feels the urge of inspiration, proceeds to form his own personal political party. Printing of ballots for an election henceforth will be a considerable of a job for the printers. That is the only good thing which will come out of it, but what a job there will be for the intelligent electors when they come to mark their ballot papers!

It seems to us that the ordained rulers of men manage things better in some other countries. In our lagged country we go through the formality of consulting the people when we propose to elect a new leader or confirm an old leader in power. Or rather a leader may arise who will change it for us. There are rumors of the establishment of a dictatorship at Ottawa, but there is probably little substance behind such stories. There are no signs that we have produced leaders of men of the calibre of a Stalin, of a Hitler, of a Mussolini, of a Cromwell, or even of a Lloyd George.

The building has been removed from the table on all our parliaments, but it has been reverentially stored away in some secret place until a new speaker takes the chair. The people are still sovereign and their will is the law under the constitution. And, after all, while our parliamentary system may have its weak points, it is ancient, has some strong points, and has survived during periods when other alluring experiments have been tried and have been discarded. Communism in France had a brief life and an inglorious death. By whatever name the daring experiments in Italy, Germany and Russia may be known, their true name is Communism. The length of their days depends upon individual leadership, and even Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin, with their inspiration, have been given no guarantee of immortality—except in infamy. The Italian dictator, notwithstanding all his recent boastful beating of the military big drum, is threatening a very real and internal disturbance which might bring the peculiar system he has set up down upon his head with a crash.

So our born leaders had better wait and see what happens after the war in Africa before they venture upon any daring experiments in Canada. Stalin is none too sure of the permanence of his position in Russia. Dispatches say he has summoned a conference to consider the modification of the principles of Communism and a partial restoration of the parliamentary system. Stalinism today is quite different from Leninism of yesterday. Communism has to some extent been modified by individualism. Hitler's song-of-triumph has shrunk into a feeble note of doubt.

A big gun at the beginning of a war and his fiery exhortation to the soldiers who will become the victims of the war do not necessarily pre-empt glory and honor at the end of the war. Many thrones became mere scraps of metal and wood at the end of the Great War. Many thrones of administration may tumble down in ruins when the reign of madness has run its course throughout the world and reason again ascends her throne.

We in Canada cannot point the finger of scorn at any of our neighbors. We are just as mad as the rest of them, although our mania may have manifested itself in a less murderous form.

Things We Would Like to Know

We often ponder at the morbid curiosity of spectators outside a funeral parlor. How many of them have even heard of the deceased?

Why is it that when one is in a desperate hurry he or she invariably misses the street car by a narrow margin?

Veterinarians who went fishing on Tuesday lost a seventy-five-pound salmon. The biggest ones always get away, even from doctors.

Careful—the owner of the 1923 automobile who locks the front wheels together with wire rope and a padlock every time he drives into town.

When the doctor is married, the organist invariably plays "Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls."

Here's Hoping It Worked

Necessity is the mother of invention, says an old proverb, and it was a proven fact Tuesday at the annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association held under war. When Squadron Leader A. D. Bell-Irving, M.C., 11th (A.C.) Squadron, R.C.A.F., Vancouver, started for the range, to take part in the meet he found he had forgotten his telescope stand. He thought quickly, and hit upon the idea of attaching his telescope to his automobile jack. The idea worked in admirable fashion, and while his colleagues joshed him about his novel stand, the squadron commander had a first-class telescope. It takes an old soldier to figure his way out in an emergency.—S.T.

A Great Comeback

The comeback of Mrs. Helen Willis Moody on the famous Wimbledon courts will go down in history as one of the greatest of all time. That old adage, "They never come back," didn't bother "Poker Face" Helen Willis Moody. She stepped on the court to battle Helen Jacobs in the All-England tennis final. Jeffries, Dempsey, Twenty Grand and Babe Ruth tried to fool old Father Time, but failed, despite their best efforts. Mrs. Moody baffled him in spectacular fashion, and did the trick. Bobby Jones, the great golfer, tricked the Old Gent, for after suffering defeat in the National Amateur at Pebble Beach by an unknown Johnny Goodman, came back the following year, which was 1930, and made his Grand Slam, sweeping through the British Open and Amateur, the American Open and Amateur, the greatest achievement in the history of the Royal and Ancient Game.—J.D.

A faster way for washing windows was clearly demonstrated in other-day in the downtown section of the city, when the person who was washing the windows of a large business firm picked up a bucket full of water and heaved the contents against the window, almost drenching several persons who were passing by. In so doing he saved much time and energy, even if he did nearly hand himself a few involuntary baths.—S.K.M.

Please do not break in the door, as I am getting tired of nailing it up." It is signed "J.B."—N.A.C.M.

Why Not Ask the Gardener?

Among the many things we would like to know is why gardeners are so plentiful in the Parliament Buildings. The water sprays keep coming all day long, despite the fact that it is raining. This happened during the recent three-day rainy period. The sprays kept merrily whizzing around as if the taxpayer had nothing more to do with his money than to pour it down the drains.—P.C.R.

RAIN RELIEVES FIRE SITUATION

Forestry Branch Reports

Number Down Compared With Last Year

As a result of the recent heavy rains, the forest fire situation throughout the province is much better than a week ago.

A decrease in the number of fires is now reported for this season as compared with the same period last year. To date a total of 397 fires have occurred as against 424 for the same period of 1934.

However, this season's toll is still much higher than that of 1933, when only 159 fires were reported for the same period as this year.

Vancouver district still has the heaviest fire hazard. A total of 176 fires have been reported from that district. Nelson reports seventy-two; Kamloops eighty-five; Port George, twenty-seven, and Prince Rupert thirty-seven.

VETERINARIAN PARLEY VOTED BIG SUCCESS

Delegates From Two States
and B.C. Terminate Three-Day Meeting Here

1936 CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN TACOMA

Eighty delegates from British Columbia, Washington and Oregon to the Pacific Northwest Veterinary Medical Association convention terminated their three-day deliberations here yesterday after voting the annual meeting to be held in Tacoma for the year 1936.

Votes of thanks were passed to the British Columbia Veterinary Medical Association and the convention organizer, Dr. W. Graham Gilliam, of Cloverdale, to the management and staff of the Empress Hotel for the courtesy, hospitality and comfort enjoyed, and to the local women's committee, under Mrs. H. J. Krown, chairman.

"Without exception, the convention was one of the best ever held in the Pacific Northwest from a professional, social and educational point of view. Delegates from Washington and Oregon have gone back with pleasant and lasting memories of their stay here," asserted Dr. Gilliam before leaving for the Mainland.

IMPORTANT WORK

"The forty women who accompanied their veterinarian husbands expressed themselves in no uncertain terms of the hospitality and beauty of Victoria. Many of them undoubtedly will return for a holiday before the end of summer," he continued.

Agriculture, particularly the livestock branch, cannot exist without veterinary science, and the convention accomplished untold good to further co-operation between the two. Few persons realize that work of veterinarians goes much deeper and covers a far greater scope than mere inspection of sick animals," he stated.

Speaking of public health service, Dr. Gilliam remarked that housewives would be forced to throw away at least 25 per cent of all meat bought, if it were not for the service rendered by veterinarians employed in food inspection. He thought it was high time that municipalities in British Columbia realized there should be a veterinarian co-operating with the medical health officer in the interests of public welfare. He declared there were scores of communities in the province with no efficient system of meat inspection, which undoubtedly endangered general health.

Dr. Gilliam received his degree in veterinary medicine in London in 1897 and was one of the oldest members of the profession present at the convention.

hogs preferred the vegetable matter alone. The best site for a garbage feeding plant was away from the public eye. Floors should be of concrete, with an apron set into the earth to prevent rats from burrowing under.

Dr. Jay believed cleanliness was advisable at a garbage feeding plant, although filthy conditions definitely did not bring disease.

FOWL PARALYSIS
Dr. E. M. Gilbow, Moscow, Idaho, in presenting a paper on "The Transmission of Fowl Paralysis," stated there was no cure for the disease which struck down thousands of pullets annually throughout the Pacific Northwest, but it could be controlled.

There were certain strains of families of chickens which showed a hereditary tendency to resist paralysis, Dr. Gilbow said, and farmers living in congested areas where the disease was prevalent were advised to substitute their affected birds with stock from these strains. In isolated areas infected flocks should be destroyed and replaced with new chicks from clean sources.

Other papers read were "Clinical Significance of Urinology in Small Animal Practice," Dr. G. D. Pinder, Vancouver, and "A Method of Measuring Allergy and Anaphylaxis in Tubercular Cattle," Dr. C. C. Moffitt, Victoria.

Next year the Pacific Northwest Veterinary Medical Association convention will be held at Tacoma somewhere in Oregon in 1937 and at Vancouver, B.C. in 1938.

BOXER FACING MURDER TRIAL

Former Winnipeg Man Kills
London Waitress and Wounds Mother

LONDON, July 10 (P)—Raymond Henry Pousquet, former Winnipeg resident and cruiser-weight boxer who was fighting in England under the name of Del Fontaine, was arrested tonight and charged with the murder of a pretty, young waitress.

Pousquet, as police described him, was arrested after a shooting affray in South London in which Miss Hilda Meek, a waitress, was fatally wounded. The girl's mother was rushed to hospital seriously wounded.

MOTHER MAY DIE
Both were found by neighbors who heard the shots and called police. The women were rushed to hospital, where Miss Meek died. Her mother's condition was described as "extremely grave."

Pousquet will appear in police court tomorrow.

WINNIPEG, July 10 (P)—Raymond Pousquet, Canadian boxer, charged with the murder of Miss Hilda Meek, is well known in Canadian boxing circles. He held the middleweight championship of Western Canada before leaving Winnipeg to campaign in England more than two years ago.

HAD MARKED SUCCESS
Adopting the ring name of Del Fontaine, Pousquet graduated from Winnipeg amateur ranks along with Charlie Belanger, present champion of the world.

In 1928 he placed himself under the management of William Black, local promoter, and campaigned with marked success among the professionals.

He was a claimant to the Dominion middleweight title and met many of the world's top-ranking fighters in that class, including Mickey Walker. Informed of developments tonight Black said Pousquet was not of the emotional type. He was at a loss to associate the shooting with his former charge, he said.

Out of fifteen strikers and citizens to appear in court on rioting or inciting charges on Tuesday and Wednesday, Wilkes was the only man to win dismissal. Others had previously been dismissed on vagrancy charges.

THIRTY NAMES ON LIST
Of the fifteen, one man has drawn suspended sentence and thirteen others have been committed for trial. At least thirty names remain on the police docket and at present rate hearings will not be completed this week.

Jury trials for strikers committed to the higher court will start September 10.

Committed for trial this afternoon were William Smith, striker; Carl Whitmer, striker; Chris Fawell, Regina; R. A. Ellis, striker; Mike Matlesk, striker, and Carl Johnson, Regina.

The wife of a small farmer sold her surplus butter to a grocer in a nearby town. On one occasion the grocer said: "Your butter was underweight last week."

"Now, fatty that," said Mrs. Farmer. "Baby mislaid my weight that day, so I just used the pound of sugar you sold me."

TREE TRUNK HAD SECRET

Carved Letters Disclosed in Centre of Alder When Block Split

Splitting a sawn block of a tree one day recently, Harry Norris got the surprise of his life when the centre piece fell apart and disclosed the letters "ABRU" carefully carved on one side, with a faithful reprint on the opposite side. How many years it took to make the impression, what the letters mean, or just what took place since they were cut in the tree, and the day when the tree was cut down, would undoubtedly make an interesting problem for a tree expert to solve.

The piece on the left of the picture shows that the tree when it was carved was probably three inches or even less in diameter, while the portion of the trunk of the sawn tree that it came from was a foot in diameter. The theory is that the carving on the tree caused a healing effort to take place with the result that the softwood growth gradually pressed up and over the wound, eventually covering it completely and then growing more or less normally.

ONLY PART OF STORY
The four letters disclosed are apparently only part of the story for it looks as though the saw cut the bottom of another one. It would be interesting to locate the other piece, which might indicate by whom and when the letters were carved. Mr. Norris believes the adjoining piece may still be in his woodpile and he is keeping a close lookout for it, watching carefully for a fracture at one end which will enable him to identify it, as it has not already been burned up.

The tree which the interesting carving came from was a fast-growing tree, especially so in a damp location, and is not necessarily of great age. P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester of British Columbia, stated its age might be more than twenty years. He could not tell exactly, having only a portion of the trunk as evidence. It is a curiosity nevertheless, no matter when the carving was done.

WANTS PRISON TERM REDUCED

Stuart Henderson Makes
Plea for Celona—Court
Reserves Judgment

The appeals in the case of Joe Celona have been completed as far as the arguments of counsel are concerned, and the British Columbia Court of Appeal has the question of the judgments now under review, the decisions to be handed down later.

Duguid Donaghy, K.C., for the Crown, yesterday presented a short argument in the second case reviewed, after which Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, made an appeal for the shortening of the sentences if the setting aside of the conviction were not allowed.

Mr. Donaghy, in summing up the Crown's case, pointed out that the three who were accused of the rioting in the case, Celona, Baneroff and Ellen Joyce, were confederates. The Joyce woman lived with Baneroff, and the evidence showed she was the fourth floor of the hotel complained of as a headquarters of the riot.

ATTENDED PARTIES
It was significant that Celona, according to the evidence, had attended three parties at the Baneroff house in two weeks, Mr. Donaghy said.

Mr. Henderson pointed out that there were some five charges based upon the same evidence of these girls alluded to in this case, and others who testified in their behalf. These charges were all tied up with the same alleged offences. He argued that on the convictions there should not have been consecutive terms as given to Celona, but that the terms should run concurrently and thus cut the imprisonment down to one-half. A twenty-one-year term in jail, as was imposed on Celona, meant life for him, as he was thirty-eight years of age now. He felt that three years on the counts should be the maximum in such a case and the terms should run concurrently.

AGAINST CUTTING TERMS
Mr. Donaghy was against the shortening of the sentences. Procuring was, he argued, a distinct crime from that of living on the earnings of prostitutes. When Parliament authorized a punishment it was contemplated that circumstances might arise calling for the use of the full term allowed.

The sordid character of the offences were such that he considered the courts could not overlook the heinous features of the crime. Whole hotels were used in a commercial way for the patronage of Chinese alone with the inmates. He said that in view of his record in the past, Celona could not be regarded as other than an underworld character. He had a record extending over thirteen years.

Mr. Donaghy pointed out that there were reasons for making distinctions with respect to the length of the sentences given the various parties. Baneroff and Celona were the heads of the group. The Joyce woman, who was given two years, was really herself a victim of Baneroff, said Mr. Donaghy. Two other men convicted and given short sentences were really "little men" under the influence of Celona and Baneroff.

Who Carved the Letters?

Someone who may be living in Victoria at the present time carved the above letters on a small alder tree near the Cordova Bay beach a matter of twenty or twenty-five years ago. As trees, like human beings, carve strange things occasionally, this one eventually covered up the carving and grew around it. Until recently the tree flourished near the Summer home of Harry Norris, who, in splitting a sawn piece of the wood, discovered the letters. He hopes to find the adjoining piece, which has at least another letter, for the saw cut through it, and there possibly may be more.

RAIN PREVENTS ROAD PROJECTS

Provincial Public Works Department Plans Suffer Setback

Until more settled weather is assured, work of hard-surfacing those sections of the Island Highway for which appropriations have been provided will not be undertaken. The Public Works Department of the Provincial Government yesterday announced that to start now would be a waste of money, as the weather bureau here forecasts more rain shortly and rain would undo any of the work carried out.

However, some preparatory work might be undertaken, but it is expected that even this will be held up until the return of the chief engineer from Prince Rupert, where he has gone for his vacation.

NEAR END OF APPEAL LIST

Judgment of Magistrate Jay
In Assault Case Upheld by Court of Appeal

With two civil cases to be disposed of by the British Columbia Court of Appeal and also the hearing of Rex vs. Kirkham, the end of the present sitting of the Court of Appeal appears in sight. This morning the civil case of Vancouver Waterfront, Ltd. vs. Vancouver Harbor Commissioners will come before the court, to be followed by Rex vs. Kirkham.

Yesterday, on the application of Stuart Henderson, the appeal in Rex vs. Emerald Hepburn and Ralph Lohn was allowed to be carried over for hearing until next sitting of the court—W. B. Colvin, representing the Attorney-General's Department, was agreeable to this course. Mr. Henderson said that he had not been able to get the appeal books ready. He would decide before the next sitting whether he should go on with the appeal.

Both accused were given a year in jail on a charge of defrauding in a card game. Bail was obtained for them in the sum of $1,000 each.

SUSTAINS MAGISTRATE
The appeal against the two-month sentence of Douglas Hodgson for an assault, occasioning actual bodily harm upon W. J. Stevenson, was dismissed by the court yesterday. The appeal was from a judgment of Police Magistrate Jay.

C. H. Tait, counsel for the appellant, argued that there was a doubt in favor of the accused which was brought out at the trial, and the magistrate had not given the accused the benefit of that doubt. He also said that evidence had been excluded which might have had an important bearing in support of the accused.

The court considered there was nothing to warrant interfering with the judgment of the magistrate and the appeal was dismissed without calling upon J. B. Clearhugh, who appeared for the Crown, to meet the case.

Cameron Case Is Adjourned Again

VANCOUVER, July 10 (P)—The trial of former Chief of Police John Cameron, Joe Celona and Lou Barrack, who are charged with conspiracy, was adjourned today by Judge J. C. McIntosh to July 16.

UNSEALED BEER CASE IN COURT

Convicted Man Seeks Acquittal—Says Board Failed To Act on Advice

VANCOUVER, July 10 (P)—The question of whether a person is guilty of keeping unsealed liquor if the Liquor Control Board, after advice, fails to seal it, came up today in a case before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court.

Application was made by Nugent Spinks seeking to quash a conviction against Christopher Stevens on a charge of keeping unsealed liquor.

Stevens was found by police with 125 bottles of home-brewed beer none of which bore the seal of the Liquor Control Board. He was convicted before Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson on May 7.

APPEAL FOR SEALING
Evidence had been adduced by the accused that he had notified the excise department of the equipment used. He had also applied to the Liquor Control Board for sealing as required under Section 35 of the Government Liquor Act.

He had delivered a reply from the Liquor Control Board to the effect that it was not necessary to seal home brew if it was for home consumption and not for sale.

Spinks argued that his client had done all that was required under the act, and that the duty was cast upon the liquor board to carry out sub-section two of Section 35 of the act, and seal the home-brew.

SAYS BOARD IN DEFAULT
He contended that the board was in default and the Crown should not take advantage of that default to convict his client.

The magistrate has used his discretion, Spinks argued, in assuming the beer was for domestic consumption and had convicted on the unsealed liquor charge. On application of Bruce Boyd, for the Crown, His Lordship set the

LIFE OF ALBERTA HOUSE IS ENDED

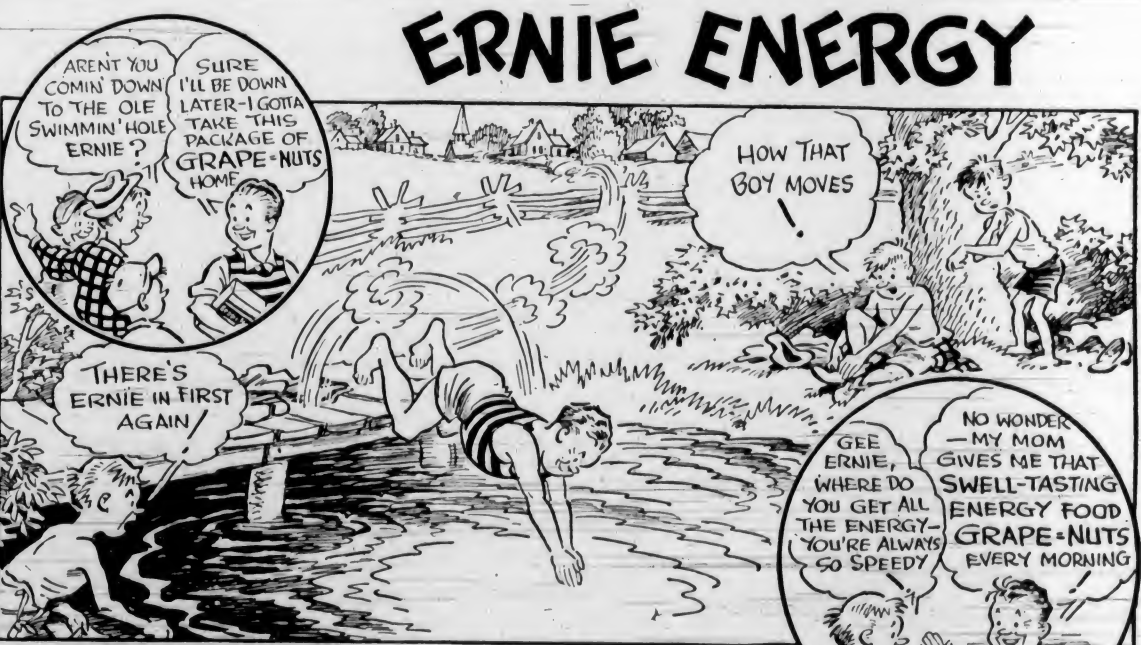

Seventh Legislature of Province
Completes Term—No Date
Set for Election

EDMONTON, July 10 (P)—For the first time in its history, Alberta will be without a Legislature at midnight Wednesday, according to Government officials.

The life of the seventh Legislature ends at this time through the fluxion of time. In the absence of a proclamation announcing dissolution.

The present House was elected on June 10, 1930, for a five-year term, as provided by the Legislative Assembly Act. Allowing for twenty days for the return of writs after the last general election, the present House would continue to exist until July 11, which means that its term ends at midnight July 10.

While it was expected that Premier R. G. Reid would announce the date of the general election on the last day of the life of the present House, if not before, the Premier remained silent. There would not be any announcement today, he said.

DUMPING DUTIES APPLIED

Dumping duties of the nature applied against British goods some years ago when sterling was devalued in relation to the Canadian dollar also have been applied against Japanese goods.

Japan has objected that these imports are unfair discrimination against her, and negotiations are under way to seek an understanding. Canada's exports to Japan during the last fiscal year were valued at $16,935,869 and Canadian imports from Japan at $4,424,654. Canada has, therefore, a heavy favorable balance of trade.

Preliminary figures show Canada sold Japan last year in agricultural products $3,320,103, of which $2,421,138 was wheat and $842,539 wheat flour.

LARGE TRADE AFFECTED

Japan bought Canadian lumber and paper to the total of $6,274,928, of which about half was lumber and the balance paper and various forms of wood pulp.

Trade and commerce officials explain Japan has a law which enables it to levy a surtax against imports up to 100 per cent of the value of the goods. They have no information as to what Japan has decided to do, but interpret a 50 per cent surtax as an additional import equal to half the value of the goods.

BALDWIN HAS ANSWER FOR LABOR ATTACK

Defends Himself Against Charge of Political Dishonesty by Lansbury

NO SINECURES IN HIS NEW CABINET

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—George Lansbury, leader of the Opposition Labor Party, attacked the personnel of the Cabinet in the House of Commons today.

He charged Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin with "political dishonesty" and asserted that ministers are not chosen for ability, but just to represent the various sections of the National Government.

He challenged appointment to the Cabinet of Ramsay MacDonald's son, Malcolm, and of Anthony Eden, as unfair or unnecessary.

Turning on Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, Lansbury demanded that Mr. Baldwin say whether "he agrees with those who say Sir John proved himself the worst Foreign Minister in modern times." He asked: "Is that the reason why he was switched to the Home Office?"

ATTACKS MACDONALD
Lansbury attacked the elder MacDonald, asserting: "He and a dozen colleagues represent their constituencies, but not a single trades union nor a single co-operative Socialist society. Nevertheless, they claim to get free seats in the so-called National Cabinet and two assistant ministerial posts."

The Labor leader declared: "It is cheap impudence on the part of the Prime Minister to go masquerading around the country, saying 'Whatever you do, let us keep up the unity of the nation.' There has been no political unity, and to say otherwise is downright, undiluted nonsense."

Mr. Baldwin, replying, said the Prime Minister is "absolute and complete freedom" to form the Cabinet any way he wished.

Mr. Lansbury wanted to know why Lord Seney, National Labor, had been "sacked from the Lord Chancellorship as if he were an ordinary workman."

JOINS IN ATTACK
"Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal Opposition Leader, joined in what was apparently an attempt to sow dissension in the Cabinet with a complaint that ten new ministers had been created since 1914."

Mr. Baldwin said he proposed to recommend Lord Cranborne as a new Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. The relation of the Foreign Secretary and Minister for League of Nations Affairs was a temporary arrangement due to special circumstances, likely to exist for at least twelve months, Mr. Baldwin said.

"There has never been a time when there have been more matters of the utmost gravity to Britain."

APPRENTICESHIP PLAN ENDORSED

School Board Will Give Young Men Special Training on Jobs And at School

A new policy was adopted by the city school board last night, when the trustees endorsed the recommendation of the building and grounds committee with respect to the appointment of an apprentice to the building and grounds staff.

The apprentice will serve a three-year term to the trade of carpenter and joiner, and will be given the advantage of three winter terms at the technical night school, so that his training may be advanced with special study of the subject to which he is apprenticed.

By doing this the school board falls in line with the recommendation of Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, who is setting up an apprenticeship board with a view to encouraging the taking on of apprentices in various trades and industries.

The matter is before the apprenticeship committee of the Provincial Government now sitting in Vancouver, and only awaits the approval of that committee before the appointment is finally confirmed.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

A DOUBLE VIENNA COUP

It seems to me particularly fitting and proper that a gentleman from Vienna should have played today's hand, which involves a double Vienna Coup. The name Vienna Coup applies to that comparatively rare type of squeeze which can be effected only by cashing the high card in a suit instead of the usual squeeze procedure, which involves retaining high cards and squeezing the opponents so they must unguard their second round tricks. Since the Vienna Coup itself is rare enough, a hand in which this procedure must be followed in two suits to make contract is a rare avaris indeed.

The bidding:

North's selection of two clubs as an opening bid rather than two diamonds was a fortunate choice since East seized the opportunity to overcall in diamonds and West in spades, it gave the declarer a clear picture of the distribution of the opponents' hands and enabled him to find the only winning method of play at his ambitious seven or trump contract.

THE PLAY
East's opening lead was the five of spades and West's eight was taken by North's king. Since the bidding had indicated the diamond finesse offered no hope whatever, the declarer determined on a squeeze as his only correct course, but the squeeze could not be effective unless he first cashed both of his spade tricks. Therefore, although the ace of diamonds played was a deliberate Vienna coup, the play of the ace of spades, which was also necessary before the heart suit was run, was forced in order to make the squeeze effective. But it was this necessity for making the same play in two suits which makes the hand so interesting.

After laying down these two aces North cashed the ace of hearts, followed by five rounds of hearts from the South hand, on which North discarded three diamonds and a low spade. On the last heart lead, West to keep the card which would top dummy's nine of spades, was forced to let go of a club, and East was at the same time unable to unguard the club suit to keep a winning diamond. The nine of clubs lead from dummy gave declarer the remaining four tricks.

COMMENT

It is interesting to note that an opening club lead would have defeated this contract since it would have robbed North of the necessary entry to his hand, but East can hardly be blamed for failing to find that double dummy opening.

PROBE REACHES
FINAL SESSION

Commissioner Terms Alderman as Particularly Unwilling Witness

VANCOUVER, July 10 (AP)—The inquiry into the alleged bribery department went into its final session today after a three-hour examination last night of Ald. L. D. McDonald, who was described by Commissioner Paul McD. Kerr as "a particularly unwilling witness."

"Did you play a part in organizing a union among relief workers on the South Hill sewer project?" Ald. McDonald was asked by Sheriff McD. Kerr, counsel for R. W. Bone, city relief officer.

"No," said the alderman.

"Do you swear to that?"

"No."

ANOTHER QUESTION

"Did you invite those men to mass action and say it was the only way to get a change in the relief system?" counsel asked.

"No," replied the alderman.

"Will you swear you did not?"

"No, I won't swear."

"Then will you admit it?"

Mr. Kerr reviewed a report made on February 28 by Ald. McDonald to Mayor G. G. McGee and the special committee investigating the relief office. Mr. McDonald preferred a number of charges against Relief Officer Bone.

"Can you produce any evidence of your charge of wasteful and inefficient management against Mr. Bone?"

"No," said the alderman.

The alderman was also questioned concerning relatives and their treatment by the relief department. Evidence from Relief Officer Bone's private diary was given by W. A. Tucker, internal audit officer of the city.

Almost daily, according to the evidence, Mr. Bone received applications for employment in the relief office from civic officials and businessmen.

CHILDREN SAVED IN FLOOD AREA

Nurse Brought to Infants After Two Days Without Food And Clothing

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—The rescue of twenty-five children in the flooded village of Canisteo in St. Louis County was reported today by the state temporary emergency relief administration.

The children and infants had been without food and clothing for forty-eight hours until a refrigerator truck reached Canisteo over washed-out hill roads with milk bottles and nipples. A nurse, who accompanied the truck, remained in charge.

Another truck with twenty-five cases of evaporated milk reached the children's fresh air camp outside Canisteo where the food supply had been exhausted.

In the flooded Canisteo River, forty-eight children were reported to have been sharing four beds. They were provided with shelter.

Announcements

There is an Agony of Mind that only sensitive women who suffer from superfluous hair can understand. They distrust advertisements which offer instantaneous cures, having found the relief merely transitory. They rarely speak of their disfigurement, but just bear it in silence. W. P. Murphy, Industrialist, Says Heavy Industries Again Starting Up

With considerable money being spent throughout the entire country to get the heavy or capital industries into running order, conditions generally in the United States are beginning to show new life, Walter P. Murphy, prominent United States industrialist and chairman of the Standard Railway Equipment Company, stated last night in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Murphy is owner of the palatial yacht Interpid, which is anchored in Esquimalt Harbor. The visitor has his home in Miami, Fla., but, owing to his many business interests, has offices in Chicago. Besides manufacturing railway equipment, Mr. Murphy is president of the Union Metal Products Company and the P. H. Murphy Company, and is organizer of the Walter P. Murphy Foundation, a charitable organization.

HELP CAPITAL INDUSTRY

Heavy industry, which employs approximately 75 per cent of the entire labor power in the United States, was badly hit during the depression. The industrialist pointed out. The result has been apparent in the large numbers of unemployed. Mr. Murphy stated the country fully realized this and was doing everything it could to help capital industry.

The visitor, who is well acquainted with Canada, especially the East, has spent much time in the Dominion. When interviewed last night, he enthusiastically expressed his delight with Victoria, adding the city had "a quiet atmosphere not to be found anywhere else on this side of the Atlantic Ocean."

Garden Party at Hatley Park Is Popular Success

About 400 Guests Attend Delightful Affair Organized by Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E.—Dancing on Greensward Gives Colorful Entertainment—Visitors Enjoy Grounds

IN the beautiful setting of Hatley Park, with its acres of gardens that embrace great stretches of forest or flower-framed greensward, and with a magnificent vista of sea and mountains, the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Dunsmuir, yesterday afternoon held a most successful garden party.

The weather, as well as the grounds, was unusually inviting, and bus-load after bus-load of visitors arrived in the course of the afternoon to supplement the many who came by private cars. Gate-takings and receipts from other sources were most gratifying, about 400 attending the affair.

The gardens, with their sun-dappled terraces filled with pilae, Canterbury bells, and campanulas—as in the formal Italian garden; or the lower terraces cooled by the grove of shade trees and threaded by a fern-framed brook, provided endless interest for the visitors. But there were in addition a lucky dip or "bran pie" containing balls, dimes, toys of all kinds suitable for children—in charge of Mrs. Brooker; "hope chest" in charge of Mrs. Hall; an iced fruit cake, which ultimately went to one of the visitors as a prize, in charge of Mrs. Moody; house-house, which, in charge of Mrs. W. Sylvester, held the interest of an enthusiastic group; the "dip-the-bucket," in charge of Mrs. Frank Gibbs; and fortune-telling, presided over by Mesdames Mossop and Allen.

DANCE PROGRAMME

At 3:30 p.m. Miss Florence Clough and a bevy of pretty young dancers from her school made their appearance on the lower terrace, and for an hour the spectators, gathered on balcony and steps, were entertained with sailors' hornpipe, acrobatic dancing, circus acrobatics, ballroom and fairy dances, colorful Russian dancing, and the splendidly-dressed

TEA POPULAR

Afternoon tea was very popular, and was served from an attractively-arranged buffet decorated with Canterbury bells, campanulas, Valerian and other flowers. Mrs. J. Baker and Mrs. W. Maugh were the convener, and Mesdames Leckie, Adie, W. Hishop, Clifford, K. Mills, G. Mellor, McKie, Leckie, F. Bayliss and Miss Lawrence were in charge. Mrs. Stanwick looking after the tea tickets. Woman Astronomer of Note Visits Capital City

After several days' visit at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, Dr. Haze M. Loh, instructor and research assistant in the observatory of the University of Michigan, left last evening for the Mount Wilson Observatory, where she will spend several weeks in special studies.

During her stay here, Dr. Loh gave an interesting talk to the staff of the local observatory on the work of her own institution. The University of Michigan has the largest astronomical department of any observatory in the world, between 900 and 1,000 students the past year taking lectures on astronomy with the accompanying laboratory work. For study and instruction alone they have a twelve-inch refracting telescope and a ten-inch reflector. These are mounted on the roof of one of the university buildings.

For more advanced research they have the thirty-seven and one-half inch reflector at the main observatory on the outskirts of the city of Ann Arbor, where the university is located. In addition, they have recently added, largely through the generosity of friends, the McMahon Hurlbut Observatory at Lake Annapolis, where special studies of the sun are carried out largely through the use of motion pictures, which portray the rapid surface changes surrounding sun spots. Their station in South Africa, where double-star work is carried on, will likely be closed next year, due to lack of funds.

Dr. Loh and Dr. Pettie of the local staff are joint authors of an important manual on astronomy for classroom work. Dr. Pettie, who had gone to Seattle to meet his wife coming from the East, arrived back in time to have a few hours with his former colleague.

Frances Willard W.C.T.U. Hears Mrs. C. Spofford

An enjoyable afternoon was spent on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. T. Humphries, Quadra Street, when the Frances Willard Branch of the W.C.T.U. held its parlor meeting and listened to an eloquent address by Mrs. C. C. Spofford, the guest speaker, who took as her subject "The Temperance Situation in the Past and as It Should Be Today."

Among the many facts and figures related was that the national revenue received by the Dominion Government from taxes on the liquor business amounted to $48,938,229 from 1931 to 1934, as stated by Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue. The speaker then said that "if this huge sum had been turned into the channel of legitimate business and developing our natural resources, etc., our unemployed and economic troubles would have been adjusted."

"As women, we can't understand why those who are paid to conduct our affairs of state cannot figure this out for themselves," said Mrs. Spofford. "Verily there are none so blind as those who will not see."

Among those who took part in the discussion which followed the talk were Mrs. Edward Parsons, Mr.

Fred Parsons, Mrs. John Hall, an outstanding temperance leader; Miss Wark, at one time police woman of Victoria; Miss Lucas, who for thirty-seven years was a teacher in the public schools; Mrs. Kirkpatrick, for twenty years a temperance advocate in Prince Rupert; and for a number of years on the City Council of that city, and others.

Mrs. Rogers moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and those who assisted in making the afternoon a success. Devotional exercises opened the meeting, followed by Scripture reading by Mrs. A. H. Rogers. Mrs. W. H. English led in prayer. Mrs. Fred Parsons accompanied herself in singing "My Task," and Miss Dorothy Humphries recited. Three new members were welcomed.

The dairyman posed as being a man of wide knowledge, but the goods he sold were not always above suspicion.

"How long has the dode been extinct?" asked a customer one day. "Roughly about a thousand years," perhaps more, perhaps less," replied the dairyman, with his usual "I know everything" air.

"Thanks," returned the customer. "Then in that case perhaps you will kindly refrain from selling me any of its eggs as new-laid."

King Sends His Thanks For Address

A letter from His Majesty the King, in which appreciation of the address sent to him by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, on the occasion of his Silver Jubilee, was read at the July meeting of the National executive at the headquarters in Toronto. The letter, forwarded by His Excellency the Governor-General, referred particularly to the sincere and loyal language in which the illuminated address was couched.

Mrs. W. G. Lumbers, National president, presided at the session, the last of the season, and announced a new chapter in Edmonton to be known as the Kathleen Barlow Chapter—in honor of the famous violinist of Alberta—and the other a junior chapter in Saskatoon.

Topics suggested by the Empire study convener for chapter study this year were the reign of King George V, using as textbook "The King's Grace," by John Buchan, and General Horby's plan for Empire settlement. Three books added to the list for Canadian study programmes are "Canadian," by Wilfrid Bovey; "To the Arctic With the Mounties," by Douglas S. Robertson, and "Mere Marie of the Ursulines," by Agnes Reppel.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

A new policy was launched in the formation of an I.O.D.E. women's advisory council, which, to date, includes Miss Joan Arnold, Mrs. Graham Thompson, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Mrs. Arthur Van Koughnet, Mrs. Angus MacMurphy and Mrs. H. S. Griffin. It was reported by the press convener that a special issue of The Sherbrooke Telegram had been published to mark the silver jubilee of the founding of the order in that city. The press clipping and scrapbook competition will be continued and prizes awarded the convener stated.

The Empire work in India convener showed that a concerted effort had been made in Brantford to further the St. Joseph's School, in which five classrooms are now occupied. A member of the Kaiser-I-Hind Chapter in Poona marked the first birthday of her first baby by sending its picture to the King-Empire.

Mr. Parsons covered 3,000 miles on his trip, and brought back with him many fine museum pieces collected on his journey taken by steamer, river barge and pack horse.

NEW POLICE STATION

The new police station has been located at McDames Creek, and Constable J. Meek, formerly of the Telegraph Creek division, left in charge. Establishment of the station has given a greater sense of security among the inhabitants of that sparsely populated area, the assistant commissioner stated.

Mr. Parsons on his return recounted his adventures on the Liard River, which already had been relayed here by radio when the assistant commissioner was testing the set to determine its range.

TAKE PHOTOGRAPHS

Six hundred photographs of wild animal life and different sections of the country were taken by the assistant commissioner on his trip. These pictures should prove of considerable value to the museum department and to the surveyor-general's department.

Among the interesting specimens which Mr. Parsons brought back were a large piece of jade, taken from the lower Liard; peculiar button-like sandstone concretions; arrowheads from the Tahltan Indians; a rare hide scraper found in the Yukon territory; and several other interesting finds that will be turned over to the provincial museum.

A minister's little daughter wrote "My daddy is a minister. He makes up his sermons on a tripewriter."

"Oliver Cromwell had a strong will, a big wart on his face, and a large red nose, but behind it was a deep religious feeling," wrote another boy.

Tangled Love

CHAPTER XVI

Noel never forgot the afternoon when he and Ned were married in the Methodist parsonage and the late sunlight that streamed through the windows, tinting with a yellow glow the tall figure of Ned and Linda's copper curls.

Whatever their paths were ahead, Noel was thinking, they would be together. And there would not be in them the dread of loneliness that had been his.

There was a smile on her dry lips as she stood beside Ned, because she did not fear for them, two as she honestly feared for Scott and her sister.

She had declined to attend the marriage with the excuse that one of the girls at the wedding was giving her a linen shower. And Scott had postponed his trip to New York to see his publisher to be Ned's best man. He was leaving today.

The wedding party left the parsonage in Stephen's car and drove back to the old apartment. After a ray buffet supper Stephen and rich memories. Noel had so much to give.

Deems went with the bride and groom to the station. Noel remained to clear away the dishes, and see Scott off.

The studio was quiet now. Noel, the little table and started to go alone she felt. And there was no one she could tell. Linda and Ned, happily married. Scott and Elinor, planning their marriage mid-stormy quarrels and tearful reconciliations.

The wealth of Stephen and Deems' debarred them from understanding. Scott looked at her with dark intent eyes—the look that always made her acutely conscious of her shabbiness.

"Come here, Noel."

"But I—"

"After I'm gone."

She sat on the studio bed in front of him. "I'm very thoughtful," he said. "I didn't think you'd be alone."

"But you must go," she said. "Their eyes met across the room."

"Noel, there are so many things I want to say to you. You're brave and gallant, and I feel better toward the girl I'm going to marry every time I look at you."

He shook his head. "My dear, you aren't blurring. You're miserable and discouraged."

She leaned her head on the cushion and her voice trembled. "Everything is so muddled. Scott. Everything goes wrong. I always try to be optimistic. But now I feel beaten. I—I don't know what to do."

She avoided his eyes. Checking the quickening tears, she ran her fingers through her hair nervously. "I hate to complain," she said, "but I guess I'm just a mess."

He nodded and said, "I know. You haven't fooled me. I've got to fight this out alone."

He sat there looking at her with his troubled eyes. He wanted to touch her brown hair, to see her curving mouth smile, and hold that strong, excuse that one of the girls at the wedding was giving her a linen shower.

What did he feel toward this girl? What did he want? He knew his trip to New York to see his publisher to be Ned's best man. He was leaving today.

He had loved him once and had been very close to him, and the thought of those brief moments with her in the back of the old apartment. After a ray buffet supper Stephen and rich memories. Noel had so much to give.

lock of intimacy and understanding. She looked up, smiling. "Please hurry, Scott," she was thinking. "I don't want to cry."

"Good-bye," he said, and when he came back—

He did not finish. He bent and gave her a hurried kiss on the forehead and went out thinking. "When it gets back, everything is going to be changed."

Noel was washing the dishes when Stephen returned unexpectedly. Unchecked tears were rolling down her cheeks.

"I'm sorry," she said. "This is a time for laughter, isn't it?"

"I don't know," he said, grateful that she was paying the way for him—for the thing that was on his mind. "With Ned and Linda, you're cynical about marriage. Perhaps I know it isn't all romance. Perhaps I know only the worst of it."

"I think marriage is the only thing," "sipping the dish mechanically. "I think it's wonderful for two people who love each other sincerely. If you love each other enough, all the cold practical things, all the irritations don't matter. It's got to have a firm foundation."

He laughed quietly. "Noel, put down the dish and listen to me."

He took her moist hands and looked directly into her eyes.

Suddenly he was not the romantic, care-free Stephen she had known. He was a man, a man who was always known, the delightful playmate, the rich boy with democratic ideas. He was a very earnest young man in a white suit with vividly blue eyes set in a sunburned face. Under his light hair his hair was bronze.

"Today," watching her perplexed frown, "something occurred to me while I was watching Linda and Ned. I knew how lonely I was. I have everything, but things are cold, meaningless and lifeless. I like warmth and life. I envy Linda and Ned. I want that too."

He pulled her closer. "I'm not a romantic chap and I have no illusions. Noel, I was going to marry your sister, dress her up, and parade her as something. With you it wouldn't be that way."

Noel caught her breath. "Deems wants this more than anything," he continued, "and I want it, too. I've missed you so much. There's been a slack in everything since you left. Noel, I'm not going to hurry you. You're not in love with me; I'm not in love with you. But we're good friends. Yes, I know it's a cold way to look at it, but I've no illusions left. If you would, you wouldn't have to tramp the streets looking for a job and I'd never be lonely again. There would always be someone with me."

She looked beyond his eager face into two futures. What was there for her here? Loneliness, an office with unfamiliar faces, shabbiness, frustrated love for the man her sister was going to marry. With Stephen—security, companionship and the sunny island. Not his wealth, but the security it would buy. And Stephen himself, casual, good-humored.

"Noel," his voice again, "we'd be happy. We'd just play." His hand closed over hers. "Will you marry me, Noel?"

From the back of her mind came the solemn promise that if Scott were not for her she could not accept her substitute.

"Tell me," he said,

Her hands were cold in Stephen's. "You've taken me by such a surprise—I-I hardly know what to say."

"So sudden?" smiling. "Sudden to me, too. I told father coming back from the station. He's at the hotel waiting for me to telephone your answer." He laughed. "This is going to be a gay marriage. You haven't said."

"I'll marry you, Stephen."

They sat on the divan together, "you see," turning to him. "I don't go into things gaily. . . because I guess, I had to face brutal realities when I was so young. You know, you might fall in love with somebody else."

"You, too," he said. "You're a very lovely person, Noel. When you look at a man, he doesn't forget. With the proper clothes, you'll shine every girl I know."

"It's a chance everybody takes—falling in love again," she said, "but I'd be honest with you and true to you."

Scott—Scott—that tall, lean figure was getting farther and farther away. This old studio, so dear to her, because it was where he worked and lived and dreamed his dreams, would vanish from her life. All this—this studio life, Scott's dark eyes across the room, the bright laughter of Linda, and Ned's jokes would be put behind her.

She got up, walked a little way, and said, "You know so little about me, Stephen. We've laughed together, but we don't know what goes on in each other's minds."

"There's little to know in mine. With us," he said, "it is sufficient that we do laugh together."

He got up, took her by the shoulders.

"I promise I won't let you regret this by neglect or thoughtlessness. I'll profit by the mistakes my parents made. There's little use to mention my money. That don't mean anything to you. When you accepted me, you accepted Stephen, the man, and not what he was. Noel—I advise you more than any person in the world."

"This is a strange kind of betrothal," she said, "but we couldn't say we loved each other. We do, in a way."

"I won't hurry you. I just want you to come back with me tonight. I just want to be sure of you. You can take as long as you like before we are married."

She turned and faced him in the kind light that fell on her face. "I give you my word," she said, and he kissed her lips.

"I'm going to call father," he said. "He's probably wearing out the hotel rugs. Noel, he's going to love this."

He gave her a hurried kiss and went out into the hall to telephone. She glanced about the room, every object of which was a vivid reminder of Scott. His desk with his writing on it, his battered typewriter, his old hat, the old card table from which he ate his lunch.

In this room she had been happy as a child, and as a girl who had known she loved a man and had given him her lips and her heart. And in this room she had told another man she would marry him. To escape loneliness and to alleviate this she had broken the promise to herself.

Stephen came back. "He's coming in a cab." He took her in his arms and held her close. "Lord, I'm happy. You're coming back with me tonight. Won't Elinor be surprised?"

"CANCER"

If July 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m. from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m.

Should someone try to infringe on your rights this day, a bold stand probably will make them respect your claims. Strong characters are likely to try to impose on those they think they can dominate; be careful in your dealings with anyone inclined to be domineering.

A good many people will be susceptible to the atmospheric conditions on this date, their spirits showing a decided reaction to the squabbles in business transactions can be easily developed unless a good deal of diplomacy is used in all commercial contacts. This ought to be a good day for making financial arrangements or planning expenditures. Convivial affairs require that

Twenty-Nine Centres Where Golfers Can Qualify for U.S. Amateur

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Raising the number of districts to twenty-nine, five more than last year, the United States Golf Association announced plans today for the thirty-six-hole qualifying tests to be played throughout the country next month for the United States amateur championship, scheduled for Cleveland, September 9 to 14.

The new points are Schenectady, N.Y.; Madison, Wis.; Charlotte, N.C.; Little Rock, Ark.; and New Orleans.

The qualifying rounds will be played in all sections Tuesday, August 20, except at Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco, where the date was advanced to August 13 to avoid conflict with state championships.

This year's tournament also will be man-to-man conflict from the start with William Lawson Little Jr., of San Francisco, defending the title he won last September at Brookline, Mass.

The field of 200 will include a number of players extending to the qualifying—former winners of the crown and foreign entrants with the exception of those from Canada, who will be obliged to qualify in the districts most convenient.

If a man, and July 11 is your natal day, you should be very popular both at home and abroad. Your keen sense of humor probably will make you much sought after for social affairs. Scientific, historical or statistical research work, as well as literary, educational or a commercial line of activity, will possibly provide the right means for your best results.

THE CHILD BORN ON JULY 11, from the time it enters until it leaves school, may require loving encouragement. Probably of a sensitive disposition, care must be exercised not to hurt its feelings by ridicule or severity.

GOOD GHOSH:

NEW YORK (AP)—It must have taken some thought, but P. K. Ghosh was inventive. He found another record to break. Ghosh now holds the uncontroverted world record for swimming with the hands manacled, having remained afloat, pair-two and a half hours with a pair of handcuffs on his wrists.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
BOSTON, July 10 (AP).—Wes Ferrell, ace Red Sox right hander, turned in his most brilliant pitching performance of the year here today as he shut out the Chicago White Sox with two fine singles and won his thirteenth game, 7-0. He also slammed out a home run and a single to drive in two of his mates with a pair of runs.

Tony Piet, Pittsburgh Pirates catcher, was the only member of the windy city crew at all able to solve Ferrell's puzzling delivery, making both the hits. In the fourth inning Tony dropped a short single into centre field, and in the seventh inning his roller down the third-base line was scored as a hit.

STOP TIGERS
WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP).—The Senators shattered Detroit's ten-game winning streak today as the Tigers opened their Eastern tour, but they won only after one of the season's wildest scoring and slugging apices, 12-11.

Washington jumped on Tommy Bridges with both feet in the opening inning and scored seven runs before Joe Sullivan finally got the side out. The Nats continued to ciout and led 12-6 going into the final inning. Then a home run by Charlie Gehring touched off the fireworks and the Tigers batted clear around, leaving the tying and winning runs on base when Gehring filed to Fred Schulte for the final out.

Touring Ridley XI Scores Victory Over Moose Jaw Squad

MOOSE JAW, July 10 (AP).—Ridley College cricketers defeated Moose Jaw Cricket Club today by a score of 198 for five wickets, declared, to 138. The time of play was extended half an hour due to rain, which fell steadily during the early part of the afternoon, and the win came in the last five minutes of play.

Bell, for Ridley College, played a beautiful innings of 73, which included seven boundaries, and Casals was not far behind with 70. Bell fell to a brilliant catch by McLeod at square leg off Stewart's bowling.

Following the lunch interval, when Ridley had scored 131 for two wickets, the total was taken to 191 for five before the closure was applied. Cole was the most effective of Moose Jaw's bowlers, taking two for eleven runs. Stewart and Train got one wicket each and one Ridley man, Mitchell, was run out.

Holden was the most successful Moose Jaw batsman, scoring 50 before being caught by Muir off Hutton's bowling. Cole accounted for 17 of the Moose Jaw runs, while Steadmond got 15 and Turner, McLeod and Stewart 12 apiece. E. McLachlan, of the Ridley team, got four wickets and Wilson three. Hutton got one wicket, as also did Purcell. One man, McLeod of Moose Jaw, was run out.

Conditions during the afternoon play were not good, the ball being slippery with the steady rain, and it had to be wiped before each ball was bowled. Late in the afternoon the sun came out and play proceeded under better conditions.

Ridley players expressed appreciation of the sportsmanship of the Moose Jaw team in extending play for half an hour.

HOPKINS WINS LIVELY BATTLE

Defeats Vic Hay in Fast Moving Bout on Benefit Card Here

His ring experience served Reg Hopkins, 139-pound Victoria grappler, to good advantage last night as he defeated Vic "Legs" Hay, 136-pound wrestler, in the main event of a benefit card for Johnny Pears. The card was staged at the Tillamook gym and was an all-round good show.

There were two other wrestling matches as well as a novelty act, modelling by Leo Holden and a demonstration of sword swallowing by G. H. Kitch, former European champion. Fred Richardson showed reels of motion pictures including shots of local wrestling, featuring the event in which Pears was injured. He also showed color scenes of a golf match at Cowood.

Battling over the four six-minute rounds, Hopkins and Hay put up a fine scrap with the latter showing his ability to take plenty of punishment. He just would not quit, although at one time his arm appeared at the point of breaking and another time his leg was just a shade ahead of being dislocated. Hopkins applied the deadly surfbord hold in the third round and Hay was enough to win the fight.

Young Dr. Barpoli and Young Des Anderson, wrestling at 90 and 87 pounds, respectively, fought for four three-minute rounds to a draw, while in the other match Bill Steen, 136 pounds, and George Lewis, 136-pound Chinese flash, battled to a one-fall draw. Steen took the first fall in the third round of the four five-minute round event with a surfbord, while Lowe squared matters in the final round with a head scissors.

JENKINS WILL MEET ADOREE IN RETURN GO

Heavyweight Wrestlers Are Booked for Saturday at Tillamook Gymnasium

Good-looking Andre Adoree, Canadian heavyweight wrestler, and George Jenkins, rugged Bostonian, who grappled to a one-fall draw in their last appearance at the Tillamook Gymnasium, will return to the local Palace de Squirr, Saturday evening, to headline Promoter Fred Richardson's all-heavyweight-grappling and groin programme. Another pair of pachyderms will be lined up for the semi-windup, and two Victoria grapplers will round out the card by appearing in the preliminary bout.

Making his Victoria debut a few weeks ago, Adoree, Montreal exponent of the bone-bending game, made an instant hit with the fans. They asked for his return, and he was booked, but injuries prohibited his appearance. However, the local promoter was yesterday assured that the Montrealer will be on hand Saturday to do battle with George Jenkins, Boston pachyderm.

CHALLENGE BOUT
After gaining a draw with Jenkins in his last match here, Adoree issued a challenge for a return bout from the ring, and the Bostonian, always willing and anxious to oblige, accepted the offer. Their last match was a thriller from start to finish, with the fans yelling and cheering for the good-looking Canadian to come through to victory. Jenkins, the rugged and rough type of wrestler, handed out an unusual amount of laces that the followers did not just appreciate, and they wasted no time in telling him so. Adoree, young, strong and good-looking, punished Jenkins plenty in return, but in doing so was not quite so open with his rough work.

Saturday the Montrealer will be in there anxious to settle once and for all just who is the superior wrestler. Needless to say the fans will be pulling for him to win.

A MODERN AMPHIBIAN

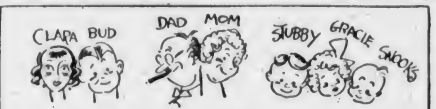

THE amphibian, able to land on water or on the ground, is a compromise between a flying boat and a land plane. The hull must have the proper shape to provide balanced buoyancy on the water, and its bottom surface is interrupted to provide "steps" assisting in take-offs.

The engine cannot be carried in the hull and hence its location outside the hull creates additional head resistance. In addition, wing tip floats must be provided to give lateral stability on the water. All this gear retracts into the wings as do tends to add to the weight and drag; the wing tip floats.

SERENADE

A good old Spanish custom is the serenade.

Enviied by the ladies of all other lands are those of this and other Latin countries whose gentlemen, following a practice immemorial when moved by the spirit of gallantry, say it with music 'neath the moon, stars and a calm sky.

The very essence of the serenade of course, is that it be in the open air. That, in fact, is how the word started.

For we have serenades from the Italian serena, meaning fair, clear, serene.

It is for this reason that a performance of vocal or instrumental music given outdoors, especially by a lover to his lady-became known as a serenade.
